THE CHALLENGE

The Grier School is an all-girls boarding school nestled in the heart of the Appalachian Mountains. Providing healthcare from 7:00 AM until 10:30 PM for over 300 students was a huge challenge for the school's health staff. For years, the health center maintained duplicate paper records for every student.

The main health record was used by the school nurse to record illnesses and injuries that occurred on campus. The school also kept a back-up health record ready to go, in the event that a student needed to be sent to the hospital or emergency room. This system was not efficient, easy to access, or environmentally responsible. Despite these challenges, the staff at Grier School was comfortable and familiar with the current workflow.

THE SOLUTION

After extensive research, the Grier School selected SchoolDoc to improve the health and safety of students. With a nursing staff that had differing comfort levels with technology, identifying a solution that was easy to learn and use was a top priority. It was essential that any new system be simple for parents as well.

"Transitioning to SchoolDoc has been a huge relief," said Lisa Perry, Director of Nursing at the Grier School. "Our entire school was impressed with how quickly this system was up and running, and working for everyone." With the intuitive design of the SchoolDoc software, the transition was easy for Grier School staff. With simple navigation and menus, staff can quickly access any student health record. All schools are assigned a dedicated Account Manager, and Grier School worked one-on-one to customize and setup their account and for training. The SchoolDoc Support Team also provided those at Grier School with live training sessions and an extensive Support Site with videos and screenshots. With the comprehensive onboarding process school staff quickly felt comfortable using SchoolDoc on a daily basis.
